"The front," was the answer. "We've cracked it already; we'll have it down now in no time."

Sense less sharpened by danger than mine would have understood but too easily from these words that they were about to use the beam as a battering-ram against the door. When that conviction overcame me, I lost courage at last. I felt that the door must come down, that no such barricade as I had constructed could support it for more than a few minutes against such shocks as fit was now to receive. "I can do no more to keep the house against them," I said to myself, with my knees knocking together, and the tears at last beginning to wet my cheeks. "I must trust to the night and the thick darkness, and save my life by running for it while there is yet time."

I huddled on my cloak and hood, and had my hand on the bar of the back door when a piteous mew from the bedroom reminded me of the existence of poor Pussy. I ran in and huddled the creature up in my arms. Before I was out in the passage again, the first shock from the beam fell on the door.

The upper hinge gave way. The chairs and the coal-seuttle forming the top of my barricade were hurled, rattling, on the floor; but the lower hinge of the door and the chest of drawers and the tool chest still kept their places. "One more!" I heard the villains cry—"one more run with the beam, and then there is yet time."

Just as they must have been starting for that one more run! I opened the door and fled into the night, with the book full of bank-notes in my bosom, the silver spoons in my pocket, and the cat in my arms. I threaded my way easily enough through the familiar obstacles in the back yard, and was out in the pitch darkness of the hour before I heard the second shock and the crash, which told me that the whole door had given way.

In a few minutes they must have discovered the fact of my flight with the pocket-book for I heard shouts in the distance, as if they were running out to pursue me. I ran on at the top of my speed, and the noise soon died away. It was so dark that twenty thieves instead of two would have found it useless to follow me.

The Daily News

NEWPORT,
144 Thames Street.

SATURDAY MORNING, Feb. 14, 1857.

E. TOURJEE, Esq., is hereby authorized to transact for us any business connected with the News and Journal office, of this city.

The Concert last evening by the Philharmonic Society, of this city, under the direction of Dr. T. Wood, was a fine affair. The character of the music was such as to demand all the varieties of musical expression. The execution was, for the most part, well suited to the demand. Among the voices employed for the edification of the large and attentive audience, we noticed two or three of superior volume, richness, and power. We congratulate the Society on its success, and hope our friend Wood will feel a fresh inspiration for future labors of this sort.

Since the above was put in type, the following has been placed at our disposal. We publish it with our thanks to the writer:-

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.—Never did we listen to the Philharmonic Society with more satisfaction than on Thursday evening last, at the Aquidneck Hall. "The Storm King" is one of those pieces that are exactly adapted to an Anglo-Saxon audience. The tempest in its rise, tumult, fury, fearful desolations, are admirably described. The performers were perfect masters of it, and gave its combinations, measures and tones with the finest effect. All understood it; all felt it; all were satisfied that "The Storm King" had justice done to it.

Of the Solas, Duets, Quartets, we forbear to speak: not because they were not executed well, but because we are unwilling to single out individuals, where all, by their just appreciation of the sentiments they uttered, deserve so much praise. Most of them in the management of the voice, especially in its softest cadences, where its beauty and power chiefly lie, have made considerable improvement since we heard them before.

The performers did themselves great credit by the thoroughness of their preparation. It is a great fault in many choirs, (and Newport is certainly no exception to it,) that many new pieces, hymn tunes, anthems and chants, are performed by them with the most imperfect preparation; and hence much music that might delight a congregation, is heard with indifference, and not unfrequently with pain. The Philharmonic Society were well prepared. They were evidently conscious of this, and hence they went through the most complicated movements without fear, and with the finest effect.

The Songs, Glees, Choruses, &c., including the Arvil Chorus, were received with full applause, and some of them were warmly encored.

It is but justice to say that Mr. Graham, at the Piano, deserves a full measure of that praise that is due to all.

Let well selected, well rehearsed, and well executed music be presented to us, and it will be soon found that the people of Newport are well able to appreciate it.

P.H.O.

ICE BOUND.—The propeller Potomac, which runs between New Bedford and New York, has been in the ice off Sandy Point, L. I., since about the middle of last month, and a letter of the 11th inst. says, there is no prospect of her being liberated soon. The ice is packed where she lies some four or three feet thick, and the average thickness of the ice was ten or twelve inches.

COURT OF JUSTICES FOR THE CITY OF NEWPORT—Feb. 13, 1857.—State vs. Cornelius Keeting, for assault and battery on Abby Cooney. Guilty, fined $10 and costs; paid.

State vs. John Picket, for assault and battery on Cornelius Keeting. Guilty. Fined 50 cents and costs.Appealed.

State vs. Jonathan T. Atmy, for violation of the Liquor Law. Guilty. Fined $20 and costs and to be imprisoned in the county jail 10 days.

State vs. Slaven and O'Connell, for violating the Liquor Law. Continued to Friday next.

State vs. Wm. H. F. Graham, alias Wm. H. Frost, alias George II. Hargraves, for theft of two gold ear rings, of H. Tisdale, Esq. Guilty. Three months in the county jail and costs. Do. for larceny of two dress patterns of A. Parmenter. Guilty. Three months in the county jail and costs. Do. for larceny of one pair of boots from Wm. A. Weeden. Guilty. Three months in the county jail and costs.

VARIOUS MATTERS.—The Naval Committee of the Senate have prepared a bill authorizing the construction of an armed steamer of 500 tons burden, for the protection of American commerce from piratical attacks on the shallow waters, creeks and rivers of China, and asking an appropriation of $120,000 for that purpose.

While the Chaplain of the Senate was performing his duty to-day, a man, evidently insane, mistaking him for the presiding officer, approached his desk, and held up his hand as if subscribing to the oath of office. The prayer concluded, the stranger, usurping a seat, was prepared to enter upon legislation, but the officers ejected him, notwithstanding his earnest protest against the violation of his Senatorial rights.

The rumor that the President, Governor Marey, and Sydney Webster were subpoenaed, in the filibuster trial at New York, is untrue, as well as the intimation by the counsel of Fabens that either of them is interested in the Central American schemes.

FROM WASHINGTON.—Washington, Feb. 11.—The Secretary of State has recommended to Congress the appropriation of $8,000 for the suppression of the Slave Trade, on the principle of 1819, and has favorably endorsed the application of the American Colonization Society for $30,000 for a similar object.

The galleries of both Houses of Congress were intensely crowded, to-day, the proceedings throughout producing intense excitement.

MONILE, Feb. 9.—The Planter's Hants, and Montgomery Cotton Presses were burnt yesterday, and 10 or 15,000 bale of Cotton consumed. Loss $700,000.

The "Welby's Place" in Hartford, famous as comprising the old charter oak, is offered for sale.

The Montreal Gazette says that a young bride and bridegroom were riding in that neighborhood, when the lady was found to have become speechless from the effect of frost on her brain, and she died soon after reaching home. This sad event is attributed to the scanty style of the bonnet she wore.

A young man named Dixon, of Memphis, Tenn., received the gratifying intelligence on the 1st inst., that a fortune of three millions had been left him by an uncle, lately deceased in North Carolina.

R. D. Van Arsdale, clerk in the Somerville (N. J.) post office, has been caught in extensive depredations upon the mails.

Upon the announcement of the election of Preston King to the U. S. Senate, 100 guns were fired upon Capitol Hill, Albany. The same gun two years ago proclaimed the re-election of the Hon. William H. Seward.

The expedition sent to South America to obtain cuttings of the sugar cane for the use of the planters of the United States has reached Demarara, after a prosperous voyage, and the objects of the expedition were likely to be speedily attained.

Brig Rolling Wave, Pearse, of Fall River, from New York for Malaga, with a cargo of flour and wheat, put into Hamilton, Bermuda, Dec. 13, having, in a gale of wind on the 5th, lost foretopmast and all attached, decks filled with water, and house doors stove in. For the safety of vessel and cargo, was compelled to throw overboard about fifty barrels of flour and five hundred bushels of wheat. Christian Thompson, a Dane, was washed overboard and drowned. On the 15th bore away for Malaga. The vessel does not leak.

The Star, the new London penny paper has reached a daily sale of 27,000 copies; while on extraordinary occasions, as during the Palmer trial, or the day after the Spurgeon catastrophe, it rises to 40,000 and 50,000. It employs an editor at $50 a week, two sub-editors at $25, a foreign sub-editor at $35, and four reporters at $20. These salaries are less than are paid by the larger and dearer papers of London.

Geo. W. Watson, proprietor of Concert Hall, Philadelphia, committed suicide Sunday morning, by cutting his throat with a razor, at a barber's shop. He has been insane for more than a year.

At the annual town meeting at Marblehead on Monday the people's ticket was elected over the citizens' ticket. Mrs. Maria Antoinette Lakenham was chosen keeper of the town pound.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION—SEVEN MEN KILLED.—Buffalo, Feb. 11.—This afternoon, the boiler connected with the machinery for driving pumps on F. D. Barlow's section of the Canal enlargement near Black Rock dam, exploded, demolishing the building in which it was enclosed, and instantly killing John Stoughton, the engineer, John Rider, fireman, and five laborers who were at work on the canal nearby. Several others were also seriously injured.

An emigrant train, over the Hudson River Railroad, ran off the track early Saturday morning, between Poughkeepsie and Rhinebeck. Several persons were hurt, and a man and a woman passenger were fatally injured. One woman had her thigh broken.

HAD'E MAT LAS, T.—A young man from the "rural districts" went to the Post Office the other day with a bank note, for a dollar's worth of postage stamp. He was told that paper money was not received. He went away, and shortly returned with four Spanish quarters. "We don't receive them now," said the attendant, "for more than twenty cents apiece." The countryman thought Uncle Sam mighty particular, so he went away again and obtained a dollar in coppers. "Now," said he, on returning to the office and laying down his 'pile' at the window of the delivery, "I guess I can suit ye." The man inside looked at the display of "specie currency," and coolly said, "We never take more than three cents in copper at any one time; it is not a legal tender above that sum."

The countryman looked at the composed official for the space of a minute and a half without stirring; and then he belched out, "Look here, you; ain't you almighty kind of particular, for fellers locked up in such a jail as this 'ere? You don't take only three cents in copper at a time, hey?" Well, then, s'pose you give me three cents worth of stamps, anyhow?" The official very politely cut him off a single stamp, and passed it out, for which the countryman laid down three cents. He was about to pass away, when the latter cried out, "Look here, you! Hold on! That 'ere's one time. Now, s'pose you gin me three cents worth more on 'em."

Uncle Sam's clerk was not slow in discovering that he had caught a tartar. He turned back to the window. "How many coppers have you got?" he asked. "Well, only about ninety-seven of 'em: I had a hundred on 'em when I began." "Past 'em in!" was the gruff reply. "Pass out your stamps fast and then I will," said Jonathan, but I reckon you don't ketche me again." The stamps were passed out, the coppers were handed over, when the countryman went off saying, "I s'pose because a feller works office under Uncle Sam he thinks he's smarter'n all creation; but I guess they laint somethin' that time." Lowell News,

THE BURDELL TRAGEDY.—New York, Feb. 11.—But little additional testimony in the Burdell inquest was elicited after Farrell's testimony (who swore to hearing the cry of murder in Burdell's house on the fatal Friday night, and that while he was stopping to listen to a man in his shirt sleeves opened the front door and ordered him away), the following proceeding occurred:

Mrs. Cunningham was last evening committed to the Tombs.

At the conclusion, yesterday, of Farrell's testimony (who swore to hearing the cry of murder in Burdell's house on the fatal Friday night, and that while he was stopping to listen to a man in his shirt sleeves opened the front door and ordered him away), the following proceeding occurred:

Mr. Eckel was placed in the bed chamber of Dr. Burdell, and had the choice of any position he pleased to take among the jury, reporters, and others who were present.—He was asked to appear in his shirt sleeves, the persons standing around him appearing in like manner. This, however, he refused to do. The others then put on their coats, so as to leave Mr. Eckel a fair chance. He assumed a leaning attitude against the bed. Mr. Farrell was then brought into the room, and after looking around four or five times, each time passing more particularly at Eckel, he at last confronted him, looked at him closely, and then turning to the corner, said—"That was very like the man—he was certain he was the man."

So far, then, Eckel has been identified as being in the house, and awake, at the time that the shriek of murder was heard outside.

This testimony is given by a working man, who appears to be honest and unsophisticated. His story was straightforward and connected, yet told with caution.

He would, according to his own statement, have volunteered at an earlier stage in the examination, but for the intimidating course which has been pursued by the coroner, and the fear of being kept away from his family.

LOTTIES.—The well known Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, of which R. FRANCIS & Co. are the managers, are chartered by the state of Maryland, and a com-misioner elected by the people, who is sworn to superintend and certify that everything connected with them is done in a strictly honorable manner, and that the interests of parties who reside at a distance are as well protected as if they themselves were present at the drawing.

Another fact which the managers call attention to, is, that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Maryland, as lotteries are legalized by special law in that state. A lottery is drawn every day in the month. If no particular class is named, orders are filled in the first drawing to take place after the communication comes to hand. The prices of tickets vary from $1.00 to $20. No tickets, however, sent unless the money for the same is received with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket (after the Havana plan), and Ternary combination. Prizes vary in amount from $20 to 100,000. All orders for tickets or packages will receive prompt attention, and the drawing mailed to all purchasers immediately after it is over. Address T. HUBBARD & Co.

A few months ago a United States soldier in New York confessed that four years previously he had murdered a young woman in Rathdrum, Austria, Ireland, and was at his own request, taken into custody, representing himself to be tortured by remorse. He was sent to the insane asylum on Blackwell's Island, and has remained there ever since. He acted very wildly at first, but Dr. Sanger declared him to be cured of insanity. Meanwhile the British Consul has had correspondence with the authorities of Rathdrum, the result of which shows that a murder was committed in that town about the time specified by the prisoner; that the name of the girl was Mary Dunn; that Lawlor was a teacher in the workhouse at the time; and moreover, that he was present at the inquest held on the body of the deceased—thus corroborating Lawlor's own story.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BALTIMORE, March 20th Dec., 1856.
Dr. J. C. AYER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of colds, &c., is your CHERRY PECTORAL. It has kept us in my family for the last ten years, has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints.

EEEN KNIGHT, M.D.

Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 5, 1856.
Breast Aches. I will cheerfully certify your Pectoral is the best remedy we possess for the cure of Whooping Cough, Croup, and the chief disease of children. We of your Intensity in the South appreciate your skill, and commend your medicine to our people.

Hiram CONKLIN, M.D.

AMOS LEE, Esq., NEW YORK, Jan. 1856.
I had a tedious Influenza, which required a long time to get rid of, and I was unable to get well again without a call to the office of our clergymen. This has also relieved the soreness in my throat and lungs; less than one half the bottle made me completely well. Your medicines are the cheapest as well as the best we can buy, and we esteem you, Doctor, and your remedies as the purest of the poor man's friends.

Asthma or Phthisis, and Bronchitis.

West MANCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 4, 1856.

Sir: Your CHERRY PECTORAL is performing marvelous cures in this section. It has relieved several from the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, and is now in great demand. I have no doubt it will be equally successful under an affection of the lungs for the last forty years.

JENNY L. PARKS, Merchant.

A. RAMSEY, M.D., ALBION, Monroe Co., N.Y., writes Sept. 1, 1856: "During my practice of many years I have found nothing equal to your CHERRY PECTORAL for giving ease and relief to consumptive patients, or curing such as are cureable."

We might add volumes of evidence, but the most convincing proof of the virtues of this remedy is found in its effects upon trial.

Consumption.

Probably no one remedy has ever been known which cured so many and such dangerous cases as this. No human aid can reach; but even to those the CHERRY PECTORAL relieves and comforts.

AYER'S HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY, March 6, 1856.

Mrs. AYER, LOWELL: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your CHERRY PECTORAL has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid could we procure her recovery. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong, of this city, who had come to see her, recommended a trial of your medicine. We knew his kindness, as we do your skill, for she has recovered from that day. She is not yet strong, as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.

OKLAND SHELBY, of SHELBYVILLE.

Consumptive, do not despair till you have tried your CHERRY PECTORAL. It is made by one of the best medical chemists in the world, and is the only safe and breakless at the high merits of its virtues. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their utmost to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these PILLS have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win an unfeignedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, and powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action and impart healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases that have hitherto defied the skill of the best physicians.
